Acct516 Financial Analysis & Valuation -- Study of the theory and practice of financial statement analysis and business valuation. Methods of fundamental analysis and business valuation are examined and applied in problems, cases and projects. MBA students may take this as an elective.

MBA585 Consulting in Action: Life Case Projects. Students work in groups as consultants with local or regional client companies on a specific project. Teams select clients from a pre-screened list of potential clients. The project may involve aspects of management, operations, marketing, finance and/or accounting. Teams present recommendation and implementation reports to clients during final sessions.
