Fundamentals of Advanced Accounting, Fourth Edition, by Hoyle, Schaefer, & Douppnik, AND Essentials of Accounting for Governmental and Not-For-Profit Organizations, Tenth Edition, by Copley.

Objectives: To provide the student with an introduction to the complex accounting issues surrounding the financial reporting for corporate entities. The theory and accounting procedures for preparing consolidated financial statements for parent and subsidiary companies are covered.

Financial reporting for governmental, proprietary, and fiduciary funds is introduced along with the government-wide financial statements. In addition, financial reporting for not-for-profit entities is introduced.

Students will need to understand and apply business concepts in accounting, finance, and management, to solve the large, unstructured problems required by the course material. Students should also demonstrate their ability to communicate effectively through class participation, homework assignments, and the case/paper. Ethical issues will be discussed, primarily as they arise in preparing consolidated financial statements.

For each ten items turned in late, or not turned in at all, the student's grade will be reduced by one letter grade.

Case/Paper: Papers should range from three to five pages in length, typed and double-spaced. Papers are to be based on a case distributed by the instructor, and must include at least three outside sources, two of which must be from the professional accounting literature. Papers will be graded on the basis of organization (10 pts.), content (20 pts.), and style (10 pts.). Papers should conform to the COBE Writing Style Guide which is available on the COBE website at <http://COBE.boisestate.edu>. Check it out and USE it!!!

Attendance & Participation It is your responsibility to attend class. Students choosing not to attend class on a regular or timely basis should not expect to do well and should be prepared to suffer the consequences. Since classroom discussion greatly enhances the learning experience, it is essential each and every student participate. The instructor reserves the right to raise (or lower) a student's mathematically derived grade by one letter grade based upon his perception of a high (low) level of participation.

Please be considerate of your fellow students by arriving on time—before the instructor begins class!

Academic Dishonesty: Cheating or plagiarism will not be tolerated in any form. If cheating or plagiarism are discovered, the student(s) involved will receive a zero on the item to be submitted for grading.

Other: The instructor reserves the right to use quizzes or other methods of examining student knowledge as he considers necessary in the circumstances. These items may increase the total number of points possible.
